COWBOY RESTS HIS HEAD IN PORT DOUGLAS

A heavenly retreat awaits Jonathan Thurston at Coconut Grove, Port Douglas, - the town's hottest new address when it comes to luxurious accommodation. At right, a sneak peak of the Penthouse Apartment's rooftop entertaining area.

Having kicked the footy off Sydney Harbour Bridge this week to signify the launch of the 2009 NRL season, Jonathan Thurston will savour his last few days of rest and relaxation -before the competition begins next week - with a weekend getaway to Port Douglas' hottest new address, Coconut Grove.

One can definitely imagine Thurston kicking up his heels....or not..... After checking-in at lunch time today, Mr Thurston, who will be joined by friends, is destined to be 'blown away' by the sheer magnificence of his three bedroom Penthouse Apartment. Coconut Grove is the epitomy of modern luxury.

These Penthouse Apartments leave guests wanting for nothing. Some of the treats inside include a 50inch plasma television, gourmet appliances with a fridge that does everything but make tea, gorgeous bathrooms fit for a king, queen (and cowboy) with self-standing spa baths and the piece de resistance, its own rooftop terrace with pool, spa and barbecue entertaining area.

Thurston has agreed to be photographed enjoying the facilities at Coconut Grove, Port Douglas. Please liaise with the apartment's resident and general manager, Warwick Bourgiugnon on 40990600 or contact Pip Miller 0419 681543.
